Late Summer Weather in the Finger Lakes

Like most of the upstate New York region, the Finger Lakes region is very scenic, with warm, humid late summer average temperatures around 75 to 80 degrees. Evenings can be cool and breezy, with an occasional shower. Be sure to bring a hat and sunscreen, light jacket and comfortable shoes for walking. The HGSA Board hopes you will stay over and enjoy the open weekend after the conference to explore this truly beautiful part of our country!

Please note : On our Thursday tour, the Wegman's Organic Farm requires closed toed shoes and a visitor permission slip that will be included in your registration packet. If you have any further questions, comments, suggestions or additional needs, please feel free to contact any of us.
